Definitions

Paid Positions:

During the normal functioning of OCTE, persons within the organization may be hired to perform a necessary service requiring extraordinary time-consuming workloads. The process will be the responsibility of the Hiring Committee and recommendations be subject to approval by the OCTE Executive.

Appointed Positions:

Persons within the organization may be asked to provide above-and-beyond short-term duties. These will not require a direct remuneration rather, may be paid a honourarium plus incurred costs. The remuneration will be established by the Hiring Committee and recommendations be subject to Executive approval.

OCTE is in a position to recognize the attributes of its members. With this knowledge, it may be appropriate to appoint a member to the position rather than following a “hiring process” outlined below. Similarly, OCTE recognizes that from time-to-time, constraints of time may require an appointment of a position rather than following the hiring process. The Chair of OCTE, in consultation with the Executive and Chair of the Hiring Committee, will facilitate the appointment. Remuneration will be determined as outlined in “Appointed Positions” above.

The decision to appoint or to follow the hiring process is at the discretion of the Executive. Hiring Committee: The Hiring Committee is the responsibility of the Human Resources Division. The Human Resources Division will appoint a Committee Leader and together will identify an appropriate number of hiring committee members. Hiring committee members will be selected from among the executive and/or, if required, Leaders of standing committees.

Hiring Process: (Paid Positions)

The Hiring Committee will:

- Clearly identify the parameters that identifies the need for the position and determine the process required to complete the task. Develop and prioritize the key attributes needed from the position and the special qualifications, traits, characteristics, and experience required in the candidate.
- Establish a scoring matrix of attributes/qualifications to be used in the selection process. Develop a job description and create a Position Application Form. Create a posting with instructions to return to the Hiring Committee Leader.
- Determine the scope and salary range for the position and post the position. (e.g., OCTE website and/or beyond)
- Committee members will individually review the applications and rank each according to the established matrix. Select a candidate based on a simple majority consensus. Create a contract and establish a salary range for the position. Solicit approval of the candidate from the OCTE Executive.

Constitution and By-Laws of the Ontario Council for Technology Education

- Develop a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) and a detailed contract that outlines the duties, responsibilities, reporting structure and remuneration associated with the position.
- Meet with the successful candidate and outline the parameters and remuneration for the position. Have the candidate sign the contract and be witnessed by at least two committee members.

Article 11: Honourary Life Membership

Honourary Life Membership is a designation established to honour individuals who, through their service to the Executive of the Ontario Council for Technology Education (OCTE), have made significant contributions to the Council and Technological Education.

Criteria:

Honourary Life Membership (HLM) is considered for an individual in accordance with the following criteria:

The nomination will be discussed by the Executive at a meeting following receipt of the nomination and prior to the AGM. (If present, the nominee should be excluded from the discussions) The nomination must be supported by a 3/4 majority of Executive members;

The Chair of OCTE, or designate, will introduce the HLM's at the AGM and provide words of acknowledgement of his/her achievements;

Honorary Life Members do not pay membership fees, but enjoy all the privileges of members.

Article 12: Succession Planning

Overview:

The OCTE Executive takes the position that recruitment and succession planning should be an integrated approach to ensure that the Council is effectively positioned to provide a training ground for new executive members to succeed current ones. A structure with Standing Committees, chaired by current executive members selected with specific expertise matched to the committee role, will provide an opportunity not only for the Committee Chairs, but for appointed Committee Leaders and committee members to get a greater insight into the workings of OCTE and to provide a potential pool of executive personnel.

Basic premises:

- Developing OCTE leadership skills is a long-term investment of time and training;
- There should be many potential leaders in succession planning and each should be fully engaged to develop the competencies and experiences necessary to become a leader;
- Potential leaders will be motivated and engaged when they see a clear organizational structure and process within OCTE;
- Appropriate competencies and experiences within OCTE are a prerequisite for leadership.
- Types of vacancies:
 - Planned Departure is any vacancy created when a person informs the executive of his/her voluntarily withdrawal within a specified timeframe.
 - Unplanned Departure is any vacancy which is created suddenly and without warning.

The Recruitment Exceptionalities:

Currently, the OCTE Executive consists of the following elected positions:

OCTE appointed members of the executive consist of: Business and Industry representatives (1) and a representative from the Provincial Technological Education Board Leads, a representative from Experiential Learning, a French Language representative and a representative from the Ontario Youth Apprenticeship Program

Within the recruitment process;

- Each candidate has the right of refusal of a position but should be fully aware of the normal expectations of succession;
- A candidate with proven commitment to OCTE activities should be a priority consideration;
- Attracting younger members should be a requisite consideration but years of background experiences should not be discounted;

Constitution and By-Laws of the Ontario Council for Technology Education

- Requisite experiences for the Treasurer and Secretary roles should be an expectation. A logical candidate may come from members of the Standing Committees or failing this, be recruited from the general membership;
- The Vice Chair role should include a commitment to possible succession to be Chair. The current OCTE Chair, after consideration of the requisite experiences required, will make a recommendation for the position of Chair to the core executive.
- The executive will recognize that being outside of classroom duties to be beneficial to his/her ability to accept a position.
- Failing the normal succession of Vice Chair to Chair, other candidates could include A/ re-election of the Past Chair (must be still involved in education and out of the role for 2 years), B/ Treasurer, C/ Secretary, D/ Leader of a Standing Committee Department, E/ Representative from the Provincial Technological Education Board Leads (providing the executive deems their competencies and experiences as appropriate at the time).
- OCTE Executive, Division and Department Chairs must, when taking office, be made aware of and in agreement of the succession plan as per Constitution By-law Article 12.
- Following each AGM, new position appointees (elected and appointed) should be provided with the supports necessary to fulfill his or her duties. (i.e. Constitution, Bylaws, Roles and Responsibilities etc.)
- Mentoring processes will be initiated following each AGM at the OCTE Retreat Planning Event and be ongoing throughout the year.

OCTE Succession Planning Ad Hoc Committee
